FROM FATHER MARK NOV 21 2021

GREETINGS. This coming week we celebrate Thanksgiving. As we gather with our families and loved ones, let's all take some time to reflect on the many things for which we can be thankful; for example, that we can, in large part, gather this year ☺ For myself I am very thankful for our parish of Holy Trinity. Thank you to all of our parishioners for making this such a special place.

On behalf the parish office and school staffs, I want to wish everyone a happy and healthy Thanksgiving!

As we prepare to celebrate this great holiday, let's all take some time to stop and give thanks for the people, the relationships and opportunities that are placed before us each day.

Please join us on Thanksgiving day at 9AM for a Mass of Thanksgiving. What better way to start this season of giving thanks than to gather and give thanks to God for the many blessings He has bestowed upon us.

Finally, a big thanks to all who made our annual Holiday Boutique a success. After being canceled last year, our Boutique came roaring back with the usual large crowds. Thanks to Jenn Witt...and the army of volunteers (see below—thank you all!) who supported her each step of the way.

Have a good week.

NOTES ON THE MASS NOV 21 2021

SPIRITUALITY OF THE READING

What Kind of King?

Once there was a king named Arthur. You remember him, the one who thought up the Round Table and had Lancelot as his knight and Guinevere as his wife.*—

Long before he became king, in fact when he was just an infant in the cradle, a strange thing happened. The nurse stepped out for a moment and, quick as a wink, Merlin the magician stepped in and then stepped out again ...taking the boy with him.

This was not a kidnapping. Merlin was a kindly old magician and his commission was to let the boy grow up as a normal—not a spoiled, pampered or “royal”—person. He was not to be miles above the animals and the people and the tiny, precious specks of beauty in the most surprising places in our lives. He was to live with us.

So Merlin transported Arthur to a bedraggled castle ruled by a third-rate Lord named Sir Ector. The people were nice enough, and ordinary, and the crannies and nooks of the castle were perfect for a little kid to hide in and the halls for him to run around in. All the servants and even the lords and ladies were his friends.

How could they not be? He was an ordinary lad, though he would be king one day. They called him Wart (which in those days rhymed with Art, which was short for Arthur).

Merlin, funny old character, decided to educate Wart in a special way. Magically, he changed the boy into various and sundry animals, each for a time. He turned him into a hawk, for instance—to witness first-hand the world as it appeared in a hawk's eyes. Or a fish. In fact, especially a fish because Wart could then attend a formal “school of fishes” and learn from their teacher.

It seems that Jesus had a few things in common with the Wart. Jesus was not called “King” or “your highness” as a boy, any more than Wart was referred to as “your majesty.” This one was called “Jesus,” a common name in those days. He played outside, helped his dad, rolled in the mud, cut his finger, even helped birds to fly. And his mom was his very most favorite person.

He had a teacher who was even better at teaching than Merlin: the Spirit of God. It helped him through the creeks and cubbyholes of the earth and made him friends with the funny, sweet people who lived all around.

Both Wart and Jesus did grow up to be the kind of king they were meant to be. But they brought new images of a king. Their love was not just for the noble and the mighty but love for everyone. They were lowly. Jesus was “king” because he understood every minutest texture of everyone's life and world.

Pilate would ask Jesus if he were a king. He was, specifically, but not in any way Pilate could have imagined. Smallness was his power. Persuasion was his scepter, along with an amazing ability to teach.

He was Christ the King.

Oh, I almost forgot. I typed a wrong key when I began writing, and hit a “d” instead of a “g” at the end of the word King. It came out “Christ the Kind.”

This is who we will find waiting for us on Sunday.

BRING THE GOSPEL HOME NOV 21 2021

READING I Daniel 7:13-14

PSALM 93:1-5

READING II Revelation 1:5-8

GOSPEL John 18:33b-37

Question for Children: Is it difficult or easy for you to tell the truth? How does Jesus help you?

Question for Youth: Today we celebrate Christ the King. How much do you let Jesus' truth rule your life? How difficult is it for you to follow Jesus?

Question for Adults: What is the truth for you? How do you live the truth everyday?

Use these activities as a way to further reflect on the Sunday readings:

- Choose a day this week, and have each family member write down how he or she spent that day. Look at the results to see how Jesus was present.
- Light a candle during meal time each night this week. Thank Jesus for the times throughout the day when you realized that God was with you.

SAINT OF THE WEEK

St. Gertrude the Great, Religious

Gertrude was born on January 6, 1256, at or near Eisleben, Germany, and she entered the Benedictine Convent of Helfta at the age of five. There, she came under the care and influence of the abbess, also named Gertrude, and her sister, Mechtilde. Under the guardianship of these two saints, Gertrude soon learned to speak and read Latin and developed a liking for the study of philosophy from the texts in that language. In about 1282, Gertrude experienced the first of a series of visions of Christ which would continue for the remainder of her life. Gertrude began to write of her visions and these writings spread throughout Europe where her reputation as a theologian developed and grew over the next several centuries.

Gertrude's message today: While this saint was especially learned, it was not until she was about twenty-six that she chose the field and ministry that was to lead to sainthood.

It is never too early or too late to answer God's call. Are you asking for Jesus' guidance in your life?
