FROM FATHER MARK APRIL 3 2022

Greetings.

Each week, I am trying to provide some information and updates on our Annual Appeal. Again, our parish assessment for this year is $110,714. As you know, we made our assessment the last three years and we want to continue this trend each year.

A few weeks ago, I shared how the Appeal helps to support the priests and seminarians of our diocese. There are many other essential programs and ministries also supported by the Annual Appeal that a single parish simply cannot do on its own.

Another important ministry supported by your Appeal pledges is our Catholic Charities. Catholic Charities assists in many areas, and each year helps with the following:

- Counsels hundreds of individuals and families who are dealing with various issues and challenges
- Provides expanded sexual abuse and domestic violence programs in our diocese
- Assists refugee families from a variety of countries and assists them in finding shelter and work
- Feeds and clothes thousands of individuals at no cost through St. Mary's Family Emergency Center
- Houses families who are homeless and provides services to assist in transition into a self-sustaining situation

The above is yet one more essential ministry that is supported by your contributions to the Diocesan Appeal. As of March 25, we have 145 pledges and gifts totaling $58,886 for our Holy Trinity effort. I invite all to give this your most prayerful consideration. All gifts, no matter the size, will help us to do our part as members of Holy Trinity Parish to support the work of our Church. Again, we need everyone's help; long time parishioners, newer parishioners, school families; all of the Holy Trinity community is needed in this annual effort. Thank you for your continued support of our parish and its work in furthering the Gospel message.

Have a good week

Fr. Mark Neal

COMMON QUESTIONS ABOUT THE IGNITE! CAMPAIGN

IN VIEW OF THE SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC FALLOUT OF THE CORONAVIRUS PANDEMIC, IS NOW A GOOD TIME TO BE CONDUCTING A CAPITAL CAMPAIGN? Prior to the campaign, over 1,200 parishioners representing the entire Diocese participated in a planning study between August and November 2020. During that time there was more uncertainty surrounding the pandemic. Yet, 72% indicated that they would financially support a diocesan-wide campaign. The planning study also accounted for financial concerns and parishioners across the Diocese further indicated they were willing to offer financial support. Finally, following Center for Disease (CDC) guidelines, the Diocese has begun the process of easing restrictions on social interactions, making civic and liturgical life closer to normal.

WHAT KIND OF FINANCIAL TRANSPARENCY CAN WE EXPECT DURING THE CAMPAIGN AND BEYOND? Transparency is a top priority for Bishop Joensen. The status of the Ignite! Campaign will be regularly communicated via the Catholic Mirror, Diocesan website and social media, and bulletin/pulpit announcements with information about campaign goals, projects and fundraising progress.

NOTES ON THE MASS APRIL 3 2022

Human Nature—Is It Somehow All Wrong?

An American humorist was once asked what he loved most in life. This was his reply: I love women best; whiskey next; my neighbor a little; and God hardly at all!

This flashed in my mind recently when, while I was giving a lecture, a woman asked this question: Why did God build us in one way and then almost all of the time expect us to act in a way contrary to our instincts?

I knew what she meant. Our natural instincts and spontaneous desires generally seem at odds with that towards which they are supposedly directed, namely, God and eternal life. A religious perspective, it would seem, calls us to reverse the order described by that American humorist, that is, we're to love God first, our neighbor just as deeply, and then accord a very subordinate role to the human pleasures we are so naturally drawn to. But that's not what happens most of the time. Generally we are drawn, and drawn very powerfully, towards the things of this earth: other people, pleasure, beautiful objects, sex, money, comfort. These seemingly have a more-powerful grip on us than do the things of faith and religion.

Doesn't this then put our natural feelings at odds with how God intended us to feel and act? Why are we, seemingly, built in one way and then called to live in another way?

The question is a good one and is often answered in a manner that merely deepens the quandary. Often we are simply told that we shouldn't feel this way, that not putting God and religious things first in our feelings is a religious and moral fault, as if our natural wiring was somehow all wrong and we were responsible for its flaw. But that answer is both simplistic and harmful, it misunderstands God's design, lays a guilt-trip on us, and has us feeling bipolar vis-à-vis our natural make-up and the demands of faith.

How do we reconcile the seeming incongruity between our natural make-up and God's intent for us?

We need to understand human instinct and human desire at a deeper level. We might begin with St. Augustine's memorable phrase: you have made us for yourself, Lord, and our hearts are restless until they rest in you. When we analyze our natural makeup, natural instincts, and natural desires more deeply, we see that all of these ultimately are drawing us beyond the more-immediate things and pleasures with which they appear to be obsessed. They are drawing us, persistently and unceasingly, towards God.

Karl Rahner, in trying to explain this, makes a distinction between what we desire explicitly and what we desire implicitly. Our instincts and natural desires draw us towards various explicit things: love for another person, friendship with someone, a piece of art or music, a vacation, a movie, a good meal, a sexual encounter, an achievement that brings us honor, a sporting event, and countless other things that, on the surface at least, would seem to have nothing to do with God and are seemingly drawing our attention away from God.

But, as Rahner shows, and as is evident in our experience, in every one of those explicit desires there is present, implicitly, beneath the desire and as the deepest part of that desire, the longing for and pursuit of something deeper. Ultimately we are longing for the depth that grounds every person and object, God. To cite one of Rahner's more graphic examples, a man obsessed with sexual desire who seeks out a prostitute is, implicitly, seeking the bread of life, irrespective of his crass surface intent.

God didn't make a mistake in designing human desire. God's intent is written into the very DNA of desire. Ultimately our make-up directs us towards God, no matter how obsessive, earthy, lustful, and pagan a given desire might appear on a given day. Human nature is not at odds with the call of faith, not at all.

Moreover, those powerful instincts within our nature, which can seem so selfish and amoral at times, have their own moral intelligence and purpose: they protect us, make us reach out for what keeps us alive, and, not least, ensure that the human race keeps perpetuating itself. Finally, God also put those earthy instincts in us to pressure us to enjoy life and taste its pleasures—while God, like a loving old grandparent watching her children at play, remains happy just to see her children's delight in the moment, knowing that there will be time enough ahead when pain and frustration will force those desires to focus on some deeper things.

When we analyze more deeply God's design for human nature and understand ourselves more deeply within that design, we realize that, at a level deeper than spontaneous feeling, and at a level deeper than the wisecracks we make about ourselves, we in fact do love God best; love our neighbor quite a bit; and, very happily, love whiskey and the pleasures of life quite a bit as well.

QUESTION FOR THE CHILDREN How does the Sacrament of Reconciliation help us experience God's forgiveness?

QUESTION FOR THE YOUTH Who among your family and friends do you need to forgive so that you can heal a broken relationship and experience newness?

QUESTION FOR THE ADULTS Against whom do you hold prejudices? Who do you believe is a greater sinner than yourself?

ACTIVITY OF THE WEEK Jesus wants us to live in the freedom of his love. As a family, plan to spend time with someone who is feeling trapped physically or emotionally. This could be a young mother who needs time alone away from the kids, a homebound elderly neighbor, or a classmate who is trapped by put-downs, prejudice or poverty.

SAINT OF THE WEEK Joseph of Arimathea

Joseph of Arimathea was a righteous and virtuous man who was a member of the Sanhedrin and a secret disciple of Jesus. When Jesus was brought before the Sanhedrin to be condemned to death, Joseph opposed their decision. After Jesus died on the cross, Joseph asked for Jesus' body and wrapped the body in clean linen and laid it in a new tomb. Legend has it that Joseph inherited the chalice, the Holy Grail, used by Jesus in the Last Supper. Joseph led a group of missionaries to Glastonbury where they built a new church in honor of Our Lady. He is the patron saint of funeral directors.

JOSEPH'S MESSAGE TODAY After Jesus' death on the cross, Joseph chose to reveal himself as a follower of Christ, a move which must have caused his expulsion from the Sanhedrin. We too are sometimes asked to make sacrifices in the name of Jesus.

Do you offer those sacrifices which Jesus asks of you willingly or do you try to find a way to avoid them?
