MONSTER YUM!

Enjoy the break from work and school. Spend some time with your family making one of my family favorites: Monster Cookies. These have always been made with the thought that more is more (see Carl Neal's baking advice below). Hope they help you have more fun this extended holiday weekend. God Bless you and God Bless Holy Trinity!

MONSTER COOKIES

Carl Neal's baking advice: "Some ingredients such as flour or baking powder need to be used in the specified amounts. But using more than specified sugar, butter, or chocolate will only make it taste better" :-)

INGREDIENTS

1/2 cup (1 stick) salted butter, softened to room temp*
1/2 cup packed light brown sugar
1/4 cup granulated sugar
3/4 cup creamy peanut butter
1 large egg, at room temperature*
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 and 1/4 cups all-purpose flour (spoon & leveled)
1/2 cup quick oats*
3/4 cup M&Ms (any size or variety)
1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips

DIRECTIONS

Preheat oven to 350°F. Line baking sheet with parchment paper or silicone baking mat.
In a large bowl, using a hand-held mixer or stand mixer with paddle attachment, cream the butter and sugars together on medium speed, about 3 minutes.
Mix in the peanut butter, egg, and vanilla (in that order). Scrape down the sides of the bowl as needed.
Slowly mix in the baking soda and flour. Do not over-mix.
On low speed, beat in the quick oats, M&Ms, and chocolate chips just until incorporated.
If the dough is very soft and unmanageable by hand, chill the dough for 30 minutes before rolling.
Rolls balls of dough, about 2 Tablespoons of dough per ball, onto prepared baking sheet. Press a few extra M&Ms on top for looks, if preferred. Bake for 11-13 minutes— the cookies will still look a little soft, which is recommended. Slightly press down the baked cookies with the back of a spoon, since the cookies only slightly spread in the oven. Allow cookies to cool on baking sheet for 10 minutes before transferring to a wire rack. Cookies will firm up as they cool

SPIRITUALITY OF THE READINGS

Forgiveness

What happens when someone misbehaves and hurts you?
What should you do, punch 'em out?

No. Jesus lays out a detailed plan in the Gospel about how to help a person, especially in the Christian community, who has done you harm. This strategy applies whatever the damage was: saying unfair things behind your back, embarrassing you in public, stealing, unfaithfulness, you name it.

First, go to the person and let her or him know that you believe you have been hurt by what they did or said. This is not an opportunity to "let my anger out," to get my rights, or worse, to hurt them in return. It is an attempt to repair the relationship, no matter whose fault it was. It is an effort to help, not hurt.

Of course, in Sunday's story, Jesus is presuming that there is a basis of love between you and the other person. Another way to say it is that you are both members of the church.

What if going to the person does not succeed?
Jesus says you should next take two or three witnesses along. They will back you up if your interpretation of the problem is correct. If the person still does not listen, keep trying, he says. Tell the church. Continue to work on it until the matter is smoothed out. Let truth and forgiveness rule.

The underlying reason behind this whole strategy is hinted at in the First Reading. There the Lord says that Ezekiel must speak out to a person when they are doing evil and especially if they have been warned by the Lord.
The point is not to punish the them, or to turn Ezekiel into a police interrogation unit. The point is to try and help them back from the danger to their own self and to the community. "Frighten the poor sheep back," the poet Hopkins puts it. You speak out.

A personal story. I had a terrible disagreement with a colleague/friend a number of years ago. We were working together on a musical event and it seemed to each of us that the other had done something unforgivable, hurtful and unprofessional. Believe me, I do not know who was right and who was wrong. But we spoke about it one-on-one and gradually came back into each other's good graces. We remained very good friends.

Still.

The same thing happened a number of summers later. I was the one who "blew up" because of the wrongs I absolutely knew were being done to me. I even sent a peeved email. My friend sent a scorcher in return! Then we worked together to create the event! We knew instinctively what had happened. "We were both tired and quite stressed out, weren't we," my friend said. "So we each did our stressed-out thing. But we were both trying to help the performance be wonderful." As you can guess, we remain great friends.

I think this is how it can work when Christians are "all too human" and hurt each other. It is not a matter of who broke the rules. All the rules are summed up in a single saying. "You shall love your neighbor as yourself" (Second Reading).

How good it is.

John Foley, SJ

BRING THE GOSPEL HOME SEP 6 2020

READING I: Ezekiel 33:7-9

PSALM: 95:1-2, 6-9

READING II: Romans 13:8-10

GOSPEL: Matthew 18:15-20

Question for Children: What is one thing you would do for someone whom you loved?

Question for Youth: Jesus tells us about the importance of community and friendship. When have you helped heal an argument between friends? How did that feel?

Question for Adults: How do you make sure you follow the way of love as described by Paul in today's reading? What steps do you take to eliminate the unloving — grudges, hatred, prejudice, or others.

SAINT OF THE WEEK

Vibiana, Virgin and Martyr

We know almost nothing about Saint Vibiana. What we do know is that in 1851, Pope Pius IX bought a vineyard located just outside of Rome. When ancient catacombs were discovered underneath the land, the pope directed the Pontifical Commission for Sacred Archeology to explore the vast underground network. About two years later, an intact tomb was uncovered which was sealed by a marble tablet. When the tomb was opened, the skeleton of a young woman was discovered. The markings on the tomb led officials to believe she had been a martyr. When the diocese of Monterey was established, the relics of Saint Vibiana were sent there with instructions to build a cathedral in her honor. To this day, she is honored for her faith.

Vibiana's message today: This saint is remarkable in that we know so little about her life and death. But what is striking is that, through her intercession with God, she has interceded on behalf of many people in our times and helped those who need her assistance. For nearly 120 years her name was attached to the Catholic cathedral in Los Angeles, and today her tomb is in the crypt of the new Cathedral of Our Lady of the Angel. Who was she? She is an enigma. She is nobody and everybody. Her feast is celebrated only by those in Los Angeles. Because we don't know the details of her life, in one way it is difficult to ascribe to her particular virtues we can imitate. Yet in another way this makes it easier for us to identify with her. She stands for all of us, the insignificant ones who will never be written about in history books. Our lives may not be widely known, but they are known to God, who has called us each by name from before the beginning of time. When we pray to Saint Vibiana, let us imagine our parents, our grandparents and great-grandparents. In many ways, they are like Vibiana, unknown to the world but beloved by God. To a world obsessed with celebrity, they are nobodies; but in the eyes of God, they are precious beyond all imagining.

Perhaps Vibiana can inspire you to help someone who has a need of your service. Ask her to seek direction for you.
