FROM FATHER MARK MARCH 27 2022

GREETINGS.

Please join me in welcoming Sister Mary Nesta Ezeanya to Holy Trinity this weekend, March 26 and 27. Sister Mary Nesta Ezeanya is a member of the congregation of the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, founded in Nigeria by an Irish Missionary Archbishop named Charles Heerey in 1937.

The Sisters of the Immaculate Heart of Mary serve in different African countries, Europe, United States and Canada. In the Diocese of Des Moines, the sisters serve individuals that are in recovery at St. Gregory's Retreat Center Bayard.

Sister Nesta is the program therapist for Senior Life Solutions, Adair County Health System. She will be talking about their missionary endeavors and asking for your support for their work with the less privileged in different parts of the world, especially in Africa.

A BIG thank you to all who volunteered at our Holy Trinity Spring Garage Sale! Your faithfulness is much appreciated.

Also, as we continue our Lenten Journey, please consider joining us for Stations of the Cross this Friday at 5PM. You will be done in time to pick up your delicious Fish Dinner from the Knights.

Have a good week

Father Mark Neal

COMMON QUESTIONS ABOUT THE IGNITE! CAMPAIGN

Didn't we just wrap up the Sharing God's Gifts capital campaign? What did those funds go toward and what is their status? The Sharing God's Gifts campaign began in August 2012 and ended in February 2014. The goal was $30 million, it had a five-year pledge period, and over $40 million was pledged. Sharing God's Gifts helped fund support for seminarians and clergy including vocations and medical and pension programs, the maintenance of diocesan resources and facilities including the Catholic Pastoral Center, clergy residences, and the St. Thomas More Center, the strengthening of youth programs, Catholic school and religious education, and ministry outreach programs and services such as Hispanic ministry. In addition, the 80 active parishes in the Diocese shared in 50 percent of all funds collected from their parishioners for local projects including capital improvements, debt reduction or endowment building.

Is the Diocese financially sound? Yes, the Diocese is financially sound, and that stability is allowing the Diocese to conduct a campaign that focuses on the present and future needs of parishes, while also enhancing and expanding ministries. The campaign is part of the long-term pastoral vision to draw more people closer to Christ.

COVID-19 UPDATE FROM THE DIOCESE Based on new CDC guidance and consultations with our local medical experts, the Diocese of Des Moines has removed its strong recommendation for mask use and no longer requires masks during the distribution of Holy Communion. Effective immediately, the following guidance will be provided on our website:

- Masks are optional for the faithful and clergy during Mass and other indoor activities.
- We encourage everyone to discern the use of masks based on their own health and potential immunity.

Find additional information provided by the CDC about your local situation at <https://bit.ly/3u5PEm7>.

MAN UP WITH FR. MCMANUS Sundown on Holy Thursday to sundown on Easter Sunday is the most solemn part of the liturgical year, and Fr. P.J. McManus, Pastor at Christ the King Parish, wants to enlighten and challenge us as we prepare for "our best Triduum ever"! Come to St. Francis of Assisi Parish in West Des Moines on Friday, April 8 at Noon for Meatless Pizza, courtesy of the Catholic Tuition Organization. Register for this event at www.iowacatholicradio.com/events.

NOTES ON THE MASS MARCH 27 2022

THE MINISTRY OF RECONCILIATION

Ask ten people to tell the story of the prodigal son, and chances are that eight or nine of them will manage to retrieve the basic plot. It is, after all, one of the best-known stories in the world. But ask those same ten people, “On what occasion did Jesus tell that story?” and it is unlikely that any of them will know. The story is so powerful and clear that it has taken on a life of its own. Yet Luke was very careful to provide a definite setting for the story in his Gospel. Attending to that context discloses further depths in an already deeply meaningful parable.

Luke establishes the setting in a single sentence. “The tax collectors and sinners were all drawing near to listen to him, but the Pharisees and scribes began to complain, saying, ‘This man welcomes sinners and eats with them’.” This critique recalls the scene in Luke 5:27-32, Levi’s dinner party, where the Pharisees and their scribes raise the same complaint, and Jesus replies, “Those who are healthy do not need a physician, but the sick do. I have not come to call the righteous to repentance but sinners.”

The sentence beginning today’s reading evokes the same scene and issue. Again Jesus responds with a defense of his table fellowship with the outcast—only this time his strategy is storytelling. He begins with two similitudes, parables that base their comparison on a recurring social situation. The first is the one about the shepherd going after the lost sheep; the second, the one about the woman searching for a treasured lost coin. The point of each image is double-edged. The shepherd and the woman both picture the divine attitude of care for the repentant sinner; the rejoicing in each similitude represents Jesus’ own table fellowship with (repentant) tax collectors and sinners.

Finally, to drive his point home, Jesus follows these stories of the lost sheep and the lost coin with his story of the two lost sons. Yes, we find that the famous “Prodigal Son” story comes as the climax in a series of three, all in the same setting. Familiar as it is, the parable is full of surprises if we take it slowly, attending to the details.

The first surprise is a shocker: the younger son dares to ask his father for his inheritance—“pre-posthumously!”—an intolerably dishonorable request in that, or any, culture.

Second surprise: the elder son says nothing.

Third surprise: the father actually goes along with the idea and divides the property between the two sons.

Fourth surprise: the younger son turns the property into liquid capital, departs, and shoots the whole wad in Gentile territory, where he is reduced to tending pigs and nearly starving.

Fifth surprise: when the runaway returns with a plan to relate to his family as a salaried worker, his father welcomes him back with multiple signs of full reconciliation: the father’s own festal robe, the family signet ring, and sandals—clearly marking him as family as distinguished from the (barefoot) servants.

Sixth surprise: the father ensures reconciliation with the whole village by throwing a huge party around a roasted fatted calf.

Surprise number seven is the one experienced by the elder son when he returns from the field to discover this unscheduled party celebrating his wastrel brother’s return. His reaction is bitter: “All these years I slaved for you and never disobeyed one of your commandments” (a literal rendering of the Greek).

Notice what happens when we hear all this in Luke’s setting, Jesus defending his inclusive table fellowship against the charges of the scribes and Pharisees. In the portraits of the runaway and of the compassionate father, the tax collectors and sinners hear a confirmation of the reconciliation they have found in Jesus’ ministry to them. Whereas the scribes and Pharisees are invited to contemplate an image of themselves in the cartoon figure of the elder son, who has completely misread his filial relationship as one of slavery—a clear parody of their misguided sense of religion.

When Paul writes to the competitive Corinthians that God, who has reconciled us to himself through Christ, has given us a ministry of reconciliation, he is clearly calling all Christians to that same ministry. If we find ourselves resonating with bitterness of the elder son, we have some repentance to do.

Dennis Hamm, SJ

READING II Corinthians 5: 17-21

GOSPEL Luke 15: 1-3, 11-32

QUESTION FOR THE CHILDREN Who is the one person you most need to say, "I'm sorry" to in your family?

QUESTION FOR THE YOUTH Is it difficult for you to say "I'm sorry" when you hurt another or get off track in your own life? Why or why not?

QUESTION FOR THE ADULTS How have you or your family welcomed a family member who has been distant and/or absent from you?

ACTIVITY OF THE WEEK Talk about your experiences of forgiveness and reconciliation in the family. Discuss: What does a falling out between family members do to our home environment? What signs do we use to ask forgiveness? What signs do we use to tell one another that we forgive them?

SAINT OF THE WEEK Joseph, Husband of Mary

Joseph, we know, was engaged to Mary. Upon learning that she was pregnant, he resolved to divorce her. Described in Matthew as a righteous man, Joseph did not want to expose Mary to public disgrace; therefore he intended to dismiss her quietly. An angel appeared to Joseph in a dream to tell him, "do not be afraid to take Mary as your wife for the child conceived in her is from the Holy Spirit." (Mt 1:20). He remained her faithful husband and helped raise Jesus. Joseph worked as a carpenter. We know that he taught his trade to Jesus, as was the custom of the times. We can also assume that Jesus, like most boys, picked up the mannerisms and speech of Joseph.

JOSEPH'S MESSAGE TODAY In a time when families are breaking up, often with fathers abandoning their wives and children, Joseph provides a model for fathers who love their families.

When the weight of the world seems to have settled on your shoulders, try saying a prayer to St. Joseph. Ask him to help you carry your burden.
