FROM FATHER MARK DEC 6 2020

GREETINGS.

December 6 is St Nicholas Day. You can read more about him in our section in this Bulletin called "Bring the Gospel Home".

As the Patron Saint of bakers, you can honor him by starting your Christmas baking. And in the spirit of the Saint's hidden generosity, perhaps share some of your baked goodies with your loved ones, as possible! Here is a good resource for a St Nicholas Initial Cookie from catholicculture.com to get you started.

St Nicholas is also the Patron Saint of children. Consider how your family can give to support kids in need. At Holy Trinity, we create gift baskets for families that can always use toys and other holiday treats. Please call the Parish office if you would like to donate or know of a family who could use this resource. You can also go to the Giving Tree in church to see if there are any items for children that your family might like to donate. Of course there are Toys for Tots bins looking for new, unwrapped toys at numerous locations around town.

Here is a St Nicholas prayer for your children that is perfect for this day as well:

*God, Our Father, We pray that through the intercession of
St. Nicholas You will protect our children.
Keep them safe from harm and help them grow
and become worthy of Your sight.
Give them strength to keep their faith in you, and to keep alive their joy in Your creation.
Through Jesus Christ Our Lord.
Amen.*

I hope these ideas add some fun for your family as we all prepare this Advent season for Christmas Day.

God Bless you and God Bless Holy Trinity.

Father Mark

NOTES ON THE MASS DEC 6 2020

SPIRITUALITY OF THE READING

Preparing the Way

Unlike Matthew and Luke, Mark reports no genealogy for Jesus, yet he accomplishes the same thing they do: establishing Jesus' honorable status and authority.

Son of God

The word commonly translated "gospel" in Mk 1:1 ("the beginning of the gospel of Jesus the Messiah") is more fittingly translated "proclamation."

Ancient Mediterranean people were familiar with proclamations. They were generally made on behalf of or about rulers (e.g., announcing the birth of a new ruler, reporting a recent military victory by the ruler). Mediterranean people would immediately wonder: who is this Jesus, and by what right does he make proclamations?

If this person is simply Jesus of Nazareth in Galilee (Mk 1:9), he would have little claim to honor. Recall Nathanael's incredulous question: "Can anything honorable come out of Nazareth?" (Jn 1:46). A village artisan has no authority to make proclamations.

Mark has a ready answer: Jesus is Son of God. This statement announces Jesus' status, the basis of his acquired honor by reason of which he can speak and act on behalf of God.

The Second Vatican Council's Dogmatic Constitution on Divine Revelation (no. 12) urges all who interpret the Bible to "investigate what the sacred writer intended to express and actually expressed." Mark actually expressed the phrase "Son of God." What did he intend to express? In Hebrew and other Semitic languages, the phrase "son of so-and-so" means "having the qualities of so-and-so." The phrase "son of man" means having the qualities of a man or person, hence in a word it means "human." The ancients understood thunder as the voice of God (see Ps 29:3-9), hence "sons of thunder" describes "those who echo the voice of God" (see Mk 3:17).

A son of God is one who has "the quality or qualities of God," hence one who is divine or divine-like. This is more than sufficient justification for Jesus' behavior as a proclaimer.

Mark

And who is this person who presumes to narrate the story of this extraordinary Jesus? What do we know about him? The gospel does not identify its author, but tradition (since Papias) has suggested a certain "Mark," companion of Peter in Rome (1 Pet 5:13). The belief is that Peter or his recollections stand behind this gospel no matter who "Mark" really is.

From a cultural perspective, that would be beside the point. Whatever his identity, this author presents an honorable personal status as strong as Jesus' status. In the second verse, the evangelist demonstrates ability to quote Scripture creatively. While citing explicitly only Isaiah, he has also included Malachi, demonstrating not only familiarity with the sacred traditions but creative ability to reshape them. Such skill was immediately recognized, highly regarded, and admired.

John the Baptizer

The third honorable figure to appear in this prologue is dressed like Elijah (Is 40:6; see 1 Kgs 1:8), preaches reform, and announces the advent of the Messiah. Yet for all his boldness, the Baptizer displays the appropriate and expected cultural humility. He describes the coming one as "more powerful than me" and declares himself "not worthy to stoop down and untie the thong of his sandals" (Is 40:7). An honorable person never presumes to usurp the honor of another.

As a preacher, John is a smashing success. He addresses head on the day-to-day concerns of his predominantly peasant audience. The theme of John's preaching was "remission of debts" (translated "forgiveness of sins"). Jesus echoed this in the Lord's Prayer: "forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors" (Mt 6:12; Lk 11:4).

Peasants from the Judean countryside were deeply in debt. That honorable preachers like John and Jesus would proclaim remission of debts is good news. Advent is an opportune time for all Christians to address the burning issues of life courageously.

John J. Pilch

BRING THE GOSPEL HOME DEC 6 2020

READING I: Isaiah 30:19, 30

PSALM: 85:9-14

READING II: 2 Peter 3:8-14

GOSPEL: Mark 1:1-8

Question for Children: How do you experience God taking care of you, even in times of trouble?

Question for Youth: John went out to announce the good news of the Messiah's coming. How can you be good news to your friends and family this week?

Question for Adults: When you hear Isaiah comfort the people by promising that God is like a shepherd who gathers the lambs into his arms, what is your response?

SAINT OF THE WEEK

Nicholas, Bishop, Fourth Century

Nicholas was born of wealthy parents and grew up to become a priest, and later a bishop. He is known as a generous man and has a reputation as a giver of anonymous gifts. His popularity spread throughout Europe after his death.

The custom of giving gifts to children in St. Nicholas' name originated in Germany, Switzerland, and the Netherlands. Dutch Protestants who settled in New Amsterdam brought the tradition of St. Nicholas to America, though by this time he had been converted from a popular saint into a Nordic magician (Saint Nicholas became Sint Klaes, then Santa Claus).

This saint was known for his charity, which is the key characteristic in the many legends which exist about him. These stories tell us not only to be charitable, but to seek justice for those who would otherwise become victims.

Nicholas' message today: This saint was known for his charity, which is the key characteristic in the many legends which exist about him. These stories tell us not only to be charitable, but to seek justice for those who would otherwise become victims.

What can you do to help someone who is a victim of injustice?
